McKinney Man Holds Responsible Job With Sun Oil Company

Relatives and friends in McKinney will be interested in an article which appeared in a recent issue of News Spotlight, publication of the Sun Oil Company. Of special interest is the article titled "Young Men Going," by Harvey Bogen, in which Clifford Thomas is the subject. Thomas, born and reared in McKinney holds a responsible position with the Sun Oil Company.

Mr. Thomas married a McKinney girl, Miss Doris Standley and they have three daughters, Nancy, Sandra and Diane.

The news article which appeared in the Spotlight, is reproduced in these papers as follows:

"Efficiency demands in today's highly competitive business world it almost mandatory to get the most from what is available.

At the most—whether the field be agriculture manufacturing, prospecting, etc.—the ability to obtain the maximum can speel the difference between success and failure.

At the least, it can mean a bigger profit. And that is something few firms would shrug off unconcernedly.

Playing a major role Sun Oil Company in the firm's efforts to realize the most from their properties is a 32-year-old chemical engineer, Clifford Thomas.

Thomas is in charge of Sun Oil's 8-member Reservoir Mechanics Research Group, headquartered in the company's lab in Richardson.

This group's main function is to analyze processes of recovering oil from Sun Oil's reservoirs, and devise new methods of doing so in which the maximum quantity of oil can be obtained.

There were only three persons in the "fluid flow group" when Thomas was put in charge of it in 1953. Its expanding size and importance in Sun Oil's scheme of things since then closely parallel Thomas' advancement.

A native of McKinney, Thomas started with Sun Oil on a part-time basis, doing lab work during his summer-vacations in 1946 and '47 while attending the University of Oklahoma.

He had put in his first two years of college at Arlington in 1942 and '43—then taken three years out for military service. He was commissioned a Navy pilot at Pensacola, Florida, in 1945.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science degree at Oklahoma University in June, 1948, Thomas promptly returned to Sun Oil on a full-time basis.

At that time, his work consisted of studying the physical properties of reservoir rock from which Sun Oil was producing oil.

The next step up the ladder saw Thomas placed in charge of the lab study group. From there he was moved to research in 1953—and to his current post about two years ago.

Now a lieutenant senior grade with the Naval Reserve, Thomas although maintaining his pilot's rating, appears slated for continued lab work if he returns to active duty.

He is a member of Naval Research Reserve Company 8-12 which is composed of scientific personnel apparently destined for special professional tasks in case of mobilization.

Church activities, with the accent on youth programs—take up most of his spare time.

An avid sports enthusiast who "went out for everything in high school" but "couldn't quite cut it," Thomas extends a bolstering hand to youngsters in the same boat today.

He coaches a baseball team of 12- and 13-year-olds in the White Rock Church Athletic Association in a progress specifically designed for boys not proficient enough to play on commercial teams.

He also coaches the Lakeview Christian Church's basketball team.

He and his wife teach a Sunday School class of 9-year-olds at Lakeview Christian. And Thomas acts as counselor for the church's teenage program—Christian Youth Fellowship I— which meets at the church Sunday evenings.

With a good word for today's youth, in marked contrast to prevailing tales of juvenile delinquents, Thomas thinks "the teenagers of today are wonderful."

He points out that on the summer youth camps, where he and his wife act as counselors, they take along their three girls, aged 4, 6 and 8. And the teen-agers enjoy taking care of them — something Thomas insists he would not have cared for in his teens.

But if his current mode of life is any criterion, that is something open to doubt.

With Sun Oil, meanwhile, where Thomas explains "we are just getting our feet on the ground" in devising means of increasing oil returns from reservoirs, there is little question that he has his feet firmly set—to his and Sun Oil's mutual benefit.

Jerry Walsh and son, Jimmy, of Dallas, visited in McKinney Thursday afternoon, while enroute to Pilot Point. Mr. Walsh is state editor of the Dallas News and often visits in this area. While in town he stopped by the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette office for a visit.

Gridsters Of County Begin Fall Workouts

With baseball out of the way for another year, at least in Collin County, it's just about football time again.

Some Collin schools have already started fall practice looking toward opening games on September 6. Others will wait until the following week to try their charges under fire.

Always a big game, whether it's early in the season or late, is the annual scramble between Wylie and Farmersville, to be played this year at Farmersville on September 6. Farmersville is a conference. A team and Wylie is still playing in Class B but, from reports, for their last season. Because of increases in enrollment at Wylie the school will have to move into Class A by next season.

Another big contest coming up early in the season is the annual battle between Plano and Frisco. This year the game will be at Frisco and Coon supporters are looking forward to making it two in a row off their Class A rivals. Frisco won last year at Plano.

Conference B teams in the county are Frisco, Wylie, Princeton and Anna.

Conference A teams are Farmersville and Plano.

The lone Class AAA school in the county is McKinney which is looking forward to another good season. Last fall the Lions gained a tie with Gainesville for the championship, the nearest thing to a title here in 20 long years. This year the Lions have already been put on the spot by coaches from all over the state when the McKinney entry was picked to win the district outright.

Coach Joe Simpson and his assistants, Charles Qualls and Tommy Gray, will hold their first workout August 30 in preparation for a mid-September date at Newsome Stadium with the Irving Tigers.

The Lions will be loaded with lettermen and experience this fall and local fans can look for another hard-charging, hard-running ball team.

Allen, Prosper, Celina, Westminister and Community (Nevada) play six-man football and fans who haven't availed themselves of the opportunity to watch some of these games have been missing one of the biggest thrills of the pigskin season. With a 3-man line composed of two ends and a center and a 3-man backfield of quarterback, halfback and fullback, these lads put on a wide-open running and passing that is unsurpassed.

Yes, it's just about football time again in Collin County and long before the Baseball Big Leagues have settled the matter ow winning the World Series a lot of Collin folks will have forgotten that baseball even exists and will be living from one Thursday or Friday to the next when their favorite gridders do battle with the enemy.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tucker at Cottage Hill were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Button, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Button and daughter, Linda and Sharon, of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marks of Celina; Mrs. Pete Rossi and Bonnie and Bell of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duvall and Mike Ramos, of Cottage Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunn of Climax visited relatives over the weekend.

Nimrods Get Set For 1957 Hunting Season

It's time to drag the shotgun from the corner in the closet and wipe off the lint. The 1957 shooting season wil begin Sunday noon, September 1, for mourning dove in the North zone, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Thirty days later the season will open in the South zone.

The seasons extend: North zone, Sept. 1 to Oct. 17 inclusive; South zone, Oct. 1 to Nov. 17, inclusive.

The white wing season has been authorized for the Rio Grande Valley area for Sept. 13, 15, 17.

The dove bag limit is 10 per day, with 10 in possession.

Shooting is alowed from noon until sunset.

Under federal and state regulations all shotguns must be plugged to three-shell capacity. Shooting from vehicles or across the highways is prohibited.

The director issued warning to shooters to make arrangements with land owners for their hunts.

Three East Texas counties, Jasper, Tyler and Newton, will have no open season. In a local bill, these counties were excluded from the general laws and a special season was set up. This special season is in conflict with the federal laws.

Reports from all over the state indicate the largest dove crop in years. It is estimated that some 600,000 whitewings will be available for the Valley hunt.

Mourning doves are plentiful now in every area. Unless there is a drastic change in weather condition before Sept. 1, they are expected to remain in the local areas. Cooler weather or rains could change this condition. Water holz shooting also can be affected greatly, especially if heavy rains fill new water holes, providing too much water in various areas where food is available.

"Every safety precaution should be used," the director said. "Hunting season usually brings on several accidental deaths, due entirely to carelessness."

He also warned that all persons between the ages of 17 and 65 need licenses when hunting outside their home counties. These licenses now are available from wardens and other authorized license dealers throughout the state.

AG ECONOMIST REVIEWS PRICE SITUATION

Most phases of agriculture seem to be holding their own as far as prices are concerned and probably will continue to do so—with the usual seasonal declines—for the remainder of 1957.

Marketing of meat animals and grass cattle will be a little below the levels of last summer, according to John McHaney, extension economist. Hog slaughter will likely continue below the 1956 rate until later on in the year. No price drop is in sight, except for the usual seasonal declines, and meat animal prices should maintain a modest margain over last year. Steady to stronger prices are in prospect for fed cattle during the next few months, says the economist.

Prices of lower grades of cattle wil decline seasonally. However, says the economist, they will be supported by a strong demand for feed lot replacements and prices should remain at a higher level than last year.

Hog prices will probably continue above a year earlier during the rest of the summer and early fall. However, there is a slight possibility that prices at the end of the year may be a little below the prices of late last year.

Lamb prices this fal may average as high or posibly a little higher than last year, points out McHaney. Egg prices should also begin to increase. By late summer, prices are likely to be above a year earlier.

Indications point to a wheat crop of about 971 million bushels in 1957—only 3 per cent below last year. Stocks of cotton owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation or held as Collateral are the smallest since October 1953.

The average weekly rate of mill use of apparel wool in the U. S. showed a drop in April—the sixth successive month to show a drop from last year.

The national average support price for 1957 is 60 cents per bushel for oats, 94 cents per bushel for barley and $1.82 per 100 ponds for sorghum grain.

If feed crop prospects continue favorable, fed grain prices will probably average somewhat lower the rest of 1957 than for the same period in 1956, adds McHaney.

TOLERANCES FOR DDT.

Regulations of the Pure Food and Drug Administration have established tolerances of seven parts per million for residues of DDT in or on the fat of meat from cattle, hogs, and sheep, according to F. M. Fuller, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Residues of DDT in let fat are likely to exceed the tolerance if beef cattle are fed forage on which DDT applications have been made or if the animals are fed silage made from DDT-treated forage. Spraying, dipping, or dusting beef cattle with DDT is equally likely to result in an excess of the seven-parts-per-million tolerance.

Hogs and sheep can be dipped or sprayed with DDT preparations without exceeding the tolerance level if they are kept at least 30 days before slaughter.

No tolerance have been established for residues of DDT in milk, but studies indicate that application of DDT to dairy cattle feed or to the dairy cattle themselves wil cause DDT residues in milk.

Two New Additions Under Development In Allen Area

A. A. Goodson, real estate man, who is developing residential additions to the little South Collin town of Allen, is advertising lots in the area for sale. His advertisement appears in the Daily Courier-Gazette calling attention to these new developments.

Mr. Goodson is a subscriber to some of the leading real esate publications and after reading them says, you can see that whether it is New York, San Francisco or McKinney the trend or desire of most of the people is to the open spaces or larger lots in the restricted suburban areas. It is much easier to get home building loans, because you plan your own home according to what you can afford and your own personal ideals then you are happy and contented and it is not for sale soon.

"You can just live better and happier in the suburban areas that have restrictions and nothing undesirable or crackerbox houses can be built around you.

"Good sized lots offer the advantages of a few chickens and eggs and garden fresh vegetables as a few fruit trees.

"In some of the nice areas of the bigger cities they have built expensive and beautiful homes on small lots and have no place for the children to play or exercise or work off their energy only in the alleys and parks.

"You do not have to listen to the neighbors radio or television and neither do you have to close your curtains to keep them from watching you eat your meals.

"You have cheap taxes and all city conveniences in both Allenwood and Burnett divisions at Allen and not over 20 to 25 minutes to downtown Dallas by Central Expressway.

"The Allenwood Addition is restricted to brick or masonry construction with a minimum of 1200 square feet of living area and the Burnett Addition to a minimum of 800 square feet of living area and can be either brick or wood construction, also there is no fixed amount of money that you have to spend also you can get a builder of your own choosing to build your home.

"These lots can be bought for a reasonable down payment then monthly payments to suit your budget.

These lots are cheap in price when compared to what you get and the protection you get in a restricted place to live.

"Some of the lots are more than two acres in size, and these lots have been designed by an experienced engineer or designer who knew how to plan them out so they would be the prettiest."

Mr. Goodson will be glad to show lot lines and prices and says you had beter select one while you have nice selections to choose from.

His office telephone in Plano is 182 and his residence is South of Allen on Highway 75, telephone SA 7-3659 Allen, and he is always at home by 5:00 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Cowan have returned from two weeks vaaction in California where they visited relatives.
